

Contents

Foreword	v
1. Introduction	1
2. Importance of a Conceptual Framework for Violence Reduction	1
3. Categorizing Violence: The Distinction among Political, Economic, and Social Violence	2
Constraints in Categorizing Violence	2
Violence Typologies in Latin America	3
A New Categorization of Violence	4
4. Causes of Violence: An Integrated Model for Causality	5
5. The Costs of Violence: The Erosion of a Society's Capital and Associated Assets	7
Physical Capital	8
Human Capital	8
Social Capital	8
Natural Capital	9
6. An integrated Framework for Intervention	10
Current Policy Approaches	10
Developing an Integrated Intervention Framework: The Colombian National Strategy for Peace and Development	12
Basic Principles for a Colombian National Strategy for Peace and Development	12
Components of the Colombian National Strategy for Peace and Development	13
7. Concluding Comment	14
Annex: Different Disciplinary Perspectives on Violence Causality	15
References	16
Boxes
1. Types of Violence Identified in Jamaica	3
2. Four Kind of Capital and Their Associated Assets	7
Tables
1. Categories of Violence	4
2. Different Policy Approaches to Violence Intervention	11
3. Proposed Colombian National Strategy for Peace and Development: Examples of Different Interventions	13
Figures
1. An Integrated Model for Violence Causality	6
2. The Integrated Model for Violence Causality Applied to Gang Violence	6