

INDICE

Foreword	viii
Abstract	ix
Acknowledgements	x
Abbreviations and acroyms	xi
Executive summary	xii
1. Introduction
Zambia's agricultural sector	1
The agricultural sector investment program (ASIP)
Client consultation in the monitoring and evaluation of ASIP	2
Sources	3
Methods	4
2. Farming Systems
Agro-ecological zones	5
Socio-economic characteristics
Farm size	6
Cropping patterns and the use of improved varieties
Use of fertilizer
Livestock
Equipment and cultivation methods	7
Soil conservation methods
Farm labor supply and seasonality
Crop storage
Non-farm activities	8
3. Framers access to resources
Setting	11
Climatic factors
Natural resource degradation	13
Access to land
Access labor	14
Lack of appropriate skills
Draft power	15
Livestock disease
4. Framers perceptions of agricultural services
Policy context	17
Rural finance	18
Input supply	19
Agricultural marketing	20
Infrastructure
Effectiveness of agricultural extension	21
Veterinary services	24
Decentralized planning
Private sector extension	25
Framers recommendations for improving agricultural services	27
5. Coping strategies	28
Changing framing practices	29
Non-farm activities
Patterns of exchange	30

Patterns of consumption
6. Conclusions and implications
Findings	31
Policy implications
Methodological implications	32
References	34