
Contents

v	Acknowledgments
vii	Foreword
ix	Executive Summary
xiii	Acronyms and Abbreviations
1	1 The Pacific Context
3	2 Economic and Social Development Progress since 1992
9	3 World Bank Assistance to the PMCs, 1992–2002
	9 Objectives and Strategies
	11 Lending Services
	16 Nonlending Services
	20 Partnerships
23	4 Development Outcome Assessment
	23 Outcome: Moderately Unsatisfactory
	24 Institutional Development Impact: Negligible
	25 Sustainability: Unlikely
27	5 Contribution to Outcomes
	27 Bank Performance
	29 Client Performance
31	6 Findings and Recommendations
35	Annexes
	36 Map of East Asia and Pacific Region
	37 Annex A: Pacific Member Countries
	39 Fiji
	45 Kiribati
	51 The Marshall Islands
	55 Micronesia
	61 Palau
	65 Samoa

71	The Solomon Islands
77	Tonga
83	Vanuatu
89	Annex B: Statistical Tables
105	Annex C: List of World Bank Activities in the Pacific Region, 1992-2003
109	Annex D: Selected World Bank Policy Recommendations to the Pacific Member Countries, 1992-2002
113	Annex E: List of People Interviewed
117	Annex F: Guide to OED's Country Evaluation Rating Methodology
121	Annex G: Comments from the Government of Fiji
123	Annex H: Management Action Record
125	Annex I: Chairman's Summary: Committee on Development Effectiveness
129	Endnotes
131	References
Boxes
8	2.1 The U.S. Experience in the Compact Countries Underscores the Lesson that Financial Aid in Itself is Insufficient to Ensure Sustainable Economic Development
10	3.1 The "Small States Agenda"—An Overall Framework for Bank Assistance to the Pacific?
11	3.2 Several Distinct Types of Regional Assistance Strategies Exist
16	3.3 Themes of the World Bank's Regional Economic and Sector Reports, 1992-2002
33	6.1 Applying CDF Principles Going Forward
Figures
12	3.1 World Bank Lending to the PMCs Was Significantly Lower than to Other Low-Population Countries
Tables
2	1.1 The Nine Pacific Member Countries Are a Diverse Group
4	2.1 Per Capita Income Growth since 1992 Has Been Disappointing
5	2.2 Limited Access to Infrastructure Continues to Be a Constraint
5	2.3 Social Indicators Have Continued to Improve, Although Poor Conditions Persist in Parts of the Region
7	2.4 Other than Fiji, the PMCs Remain Highly Aid Dependent
13	3.1 Sector Distribution of Aid to the PMCs Has Tended toward the Social Sectors
15	3.2 Twenty Bank Lending Operations Were Active during 1992-2002
21	3.3 World Bank Lending Was a Small Proportion of Official Development Aid to the Pacific Region, 1992-2002