

Contents

Introduction	1
Keynote Address: Inequality and Economic Growth	3
François Bourguignon
Opening Statement: Dismantling the Populist State	7
Shahid Javed Burki
Welcoming Address: Poverty in Colombia	10
Rudolf Hommes
I. The Challenge of Poverty	13
Poverty and Public Challenges in Colombia	15
Juan Carlos Ramírez
Poverty	15
Evolution of poverty levels	22
Contribution of public social spending	23
Our challenges	24
Latin America's External Finance: Old and New Uncertainties	27
Ellana Cardoso
The Mexican crisis	28
Why capital inflows can be problematic	29
The costs of capital controls	30
The costs of real exchange rate appreciation	32
The challenges ahead	34
References	35
The Uneven Coverage of Social Services and the Redistributive Potential of Social Spending in Colombia	36
Carlos Eduardo Vélez and Carlos Alberto Medina
Background: Measuring the overall and sectoral redistributive impact of social spending	37
How are the needs distributed? The Frontier of Expansion Possibilities for services in each social sector	40
Sectoral expansion criteria: The Optimum Expansion Paths (SEO)	49
Expansion of aggregate expenditure and income redistribution at the margin:
The Frontier of Possibilities for the Expansion of Aggregate Expenditure (FPEG) and the
Optimum Expenditure Expansion Path (SEOG)	52
Corollary: Reevaluation of sectoral public achievements with respect to alternative social welfare goals	55
Conclusions	57
Notes	58
Bibliography	60
Panel Discussion	62

II. Violence and Development	69
Violence, Psyche, and Social Capital	71
Juan Luis Londoño
The importance of violence in Latin America	71
Some phenomena associated with violence	74
Summary	78
Notes	80
References	80
Urban Poverty and Violence: Consolidation or Erosion of Social Capital?	83
Caroline Moser
Violence and crime	84
Victims and perpetrators	84
Causes and consequences of increasing urban violence: Social problem or development issue?	85
Urban poverty, violence, and the erosion of assets	86
Notes	88
References	88
Comment	90
Mauricio Rubio
Poverty Alleviation, Social Capital, and Caring: Views from an Active NGO: Mustard Seed Communities, Kingston, Jamaica	93
Colin H. Cholmondeley
Social capital formation	93
Apparent prerequisites for social capital formation	94
A focus on caring	94
Mustard Seed's approach	94
Note	94
Epidemiology of Violence in the Americas: The Case of Colombia	95
Rodrigo Guerrero
Theoretical framework of epidemiology	95
Definition of violence and its importance in the Americas	96
Epidemiological analysis of violence in Colombia	97
Risk factors for violence	97
Conclusions and discussion	98
Notes	99
Panel Discussion	101
III. Rural Poverty	105
Rural Poverty in Latin America and the Caribbean	107
Alberto Valdés and Tom Wiens
Rural poverty profile of the region	108
Constraints on rural poverty: Findings from preliminary quantitative analysis	114
Limitations of government initiatives	116
Alternative strategies for dealing with rural poverty	120
Notes	123
References	124
Comment	125
José Antonio Ocampo
Comment	126
José Leibovich

Comment	131
Manuel O. Chiriboga
Comment	135
Milna Liévano de Márquez
Panel Discussion	137
III Labor Reform and Social Balance	143
Labor Reform and Job Creation: The Unfinished Agenda in Latin American and Caribbean Countries	145
J. Luis Guasch
Unemployment performance in LAC in 1990–1996	147
Employment performance: Continued mismatch between employment growth and labor force growth	148
Labor, income, and productivity	151
Labor markets and institutions in LAC countries	156
Factors affecting labor demand	157
Remedies to address the employment issue	163
Evidence of the impact of labor reforms	166
Public policy implications	176
Notes	180
References	181
The Prospect of Reducing Poverty and Improving Social Balance in Latin America: The Improvement of Employment Opportunities	183
Gerardo Martínez
Economic stability does not last without social balance	183
Union questions	183
The increase in unemployment disregards the policy of flexibility	184
Investment in training	184
Incentives for subsidiary companies (PYMES)	184
The South (MERCOSUR)	184
Corruption: A direct tax on work	185
Conclusion	185
Comment	186
Gerry Rodgers
Comment	192
Francisco Diaz Garaycoa
V. The Next Generation	195
Children of the Poor in Latin America and the Caribbean	197
Jacques van der Gaag and Donald R. Winkler
Poverty in Latin America and the Caribbean (LAC)	197
Social progress in LAC	197
The status of poor children	200
The cost of equal access	207
Targeting basic services to poor children	207
What the World Bank is doing	211
Summary	211
Questions	212
Notes	212
Comment	214
Mercedes Pulido de Briceño

Comment216
Gilberto Dimenstein
Comment218
Janet Brown
Panel Discussion221
VI. Indigenous Peoples, Social Exclusion227
Including the Excluded: Ethnodevelopment in Latin America229
William L. Partridge and Jorge E. Uquillas with Kathryn Johns
Background: An overview of the situation of indigenous peoples in Latin America229
Ethnodevelopment231
Conditions for ethnodevelopment232
Possession of secure tenure over a territory, land, and resources that are duly demarcated and titled233
The World Bank experience243
Conclusions247
Notes249
References250
Comment253
Mayra Buvinic
Comment256
Salomón Nahmad
Comment258
Jaime Tenjo
Social Exclusion and the Institutionalization of Social Policy260
Eduardo Amadeo and Irene Novacovsky
Social exclusion and vulnerability260
Development of Indigenous Peoples263
Salomón Nahmad
Development for indigenous peoples263
Principles264
Action lines264
Strategy lines265
The Indigenous Population and Poverty in Ecuador267
Pedro de la Cruz
Poverty in the indigenous population and the World Bank's proposals for overcoming it269
The results of questioning the participants272
Comparative observations of the results of the two methodologies273
Notes274
Moderator's Concluding Comment276
Sri-Ram Aiyer
VII. Looking to the Future279
Beyond National Policies: Partnerships for Poverty Reduction281
Ariel Fiszbein and Susan Crawford
The enabling environment282
The difficult task of building partnerships285
Partnerships in action: Some examples287

Some basic lessons learned	289
Annex: Case studies	292
Notes	298
References	299
Innovations in the Rendering of Services by the Colombian Confederation of Nongovernmental Organizations	301
Inés Useche de Brill
Government reform, decentralization, and civil society	301
The challenge for the NGOs and the rendering of services	302
Toward innovation in the rendering of services: The case of the Colombian Confederation of NGOs	302
Opportunities for alliances: The promotion of NGO networks or partnerships	303
Interaction among NGOs and multilateral banks to assist displaced workers	304
Central governments, health departments, NGOs, and community interaction	304
Interaction among NGOs, OSCs, and government multilateral banks	304
Institutional strengthening	304
The international entities as facilitators to create synergies	305
The role of the National Association of NGOs in the Latin American region and the Caribbean	305
The private sector and outsourcing: A potential service to agree on	305
Notes	305
Comment	306
José Chlímper
Comment	309
Héctor Osuna
Panel Discussion	312
VIII. Concluding Discussion and Remarks	317
Panel Discussion: The Role of the State in Reducing Poverty	319
Moderator: Rudolf Hommes
Participants: Carlos Boloña, Sebastian Edwards, and Guillermo Perry
Concluding Statement	326
Shahid Javed Burki
Concluding Remarks	328
Cecilia López
Bibliography	331