INDICE

Acknoewledgements	xix
Foreword	xxiii
Acronyms	xxvii
Synthesis
I. Rationale and organization	1
II. Core messages	2
Consolidating macroeconomic gains	4
Accelerating growth through enchaced competitiveness	8
Reducing poverty through human capital development	12
Balancing growth and poverty reduction with protecting natural resources	17
Building an efficient, accountable, and transparent government	18
III. Conclusion: putting it all together	21
Synthesis (in Spanish)	23
Part I
Chapter 1. Fiscal sustainability
I. Introduction	51
II. Government solvency and sustainability debt	52
III. Conceptual distinctions: explicit and implicit (real or contingent) fiscal	53 deficits
IV. Recommendations
Fiscal sustainability	54
Public debt management	55
Pension reform	57
Chapter 2. Growth and competitiveness	59
I. Macroeconomic overview
II. The financial sector
Overview	60
Need for increase efficiency	64
Need for improved accessibility	66
Need for increased stability and soundness	68
III. Infrastructure	69
Consolidating and extending sectoral reforms	71
Financing infrastructure services	78
IV. Agriculture	79
Chapter 3. Poverty and inequality
I. Introduction	85
II. Providing security
Evaluating government programs	89
Identifying key risks and gaps in coverage	94
III. Building opportunities	95
Health	98
Education	101
Urban labor markets	104
Rural development	108
IV. Empowering specific groups
Indigenous peoples	111
Gender issues	115

I. Recent developments 117 International and domestic context The legal and institutional response 118 Some initial successes and achievements: biodiversity and air pollution 120 II. Issues Environmental degradation 121 Policies and incentives 123 Institutions and environmental management 124 III. Options for the future Institutional strengthening 126 Impairs the most of the core functions 127 Institutional strengthening 129 Institutional end overview 133 II. Decentralization: assuring the sustainability of a process already in motion 134 III. Justice: making reforms work 136 IV. Corruption: a broad, pending agenda 139 Institutional end overview 145 Institutional end overview 14
The legal and institutional response Some initial successes and achievements: biodiversity and air pollution II. Issues Environmental degradation Policies and incentives Institutions and environmental management III. Options for the future Institutional strengthening Institutional and environmental management Institutional strengthening Institutional and environmental management Institutional strengthening Institutional strengthening Institutions and environmental management Institutions and environ
Some initial successes and achievements: biodiversity and air pollution 120
Some initial successes and achievements: biodiversity and air pollution 120
Environmental degradation Policies and incentives 123 Institutions and environmental management 124 III. Options for the future Institutional strengthening 126 More clout to core functions 127 Mainstreaming 129 Chapter 5. Accountability and the demand for quality government I. Rationale and overview 133 II. Decentralization: assuring the sustainability of a process already in motion 134 III. Justice: making reforms work 136 IV. Corruption: a broad, pending agenda 139 Part II Fiscal sustainability 145
Policies and incentives Institutions and environmental management III. Options for the future Institutional strengthening Institutional streng
Policies and incentives 123
III. Options for the future Institutional strengthening 126 More clout to core functions 127 Mainstreaming 129 Chapter 5. Accountability and the demand for quality government I. Rationale and overview 133 II. Decentralization: assuring the sustainability of a process already in motion 134 III. Justice: making reforms work 136 IV. Corruption: a broad, pending agenda 139 Part II Fiscal sustainability 145
Institutional strengthening 126 More clout to core functions 127 Mainstreaming 129 Chapter 5. Accountability and the demand for quality government I. Rationale and overview 133 II. Decentralization: assuring the sustainability of a process already in motion 134 III. Justice: making reforms work 136 IV. Corruption: a broad, pending agenda 139 Part II Fiscal sustainability 145
More clout to core functions127Mainstreaming129Chapter 5. Accountability and the demand for quality government1I. Rationale and overview133II. Decentralization: assuring the sustainability of a process already in motion134III. Justice: making reforms work136IV. Corruption: a broad, pending agenda139Part IIFiscal sustainability145
Mainstreaming 129 Chapter 5. Accountability and the demand for quality government I. Rationale and overview 133 II. Decentralization: assuring the sustainability of a process already in motion 134 III. Justice: making reforms work 136 IV. Corruption: a broad, pending agenda 139 Part II Fiscal sustainability 145
Chapter 5. Accountability and the demand for quality government I. Rationale and overview II. Decentralization: assuring the sustainability of a process already in motion III. Justice: making reforms work IV. Corruption: a broad, pending agenda Part II Fiscal sustainability 133 134 135
I. Rationale and overview II. Decentralization: assuring the sustainability of a process already in motion III. Justice: making reforms work IV. Corruption: a broad, pending agenda Part II Fiscal sustainability 133 134 135 136
II. Decentralization: assuring the sustainability of a process already in motion 134 III. Justice: making reforms work 136 IV. Corruption: a broad, pending agenda 139 Part II Fiscal sustainability 145 motion 134 III. Justice: making reforms work 136 IV. Corruption: a broad, pending agenda 139 Part II Fiscal sustainability 145
III. Justice: making reforms work IV. Corruption: a broad, pending agenda Part II Fiscal sustainability 136 139
IV. Corruption: a broad, pending agenda Part II Fiscal sustainability 139
Part II Fiscal sustainability 145
Fiscal sustainability 145
•
Chapter 6. Macroeconomic assessment
I. Introduction
Macroeconomic and financial vulnerability 148
III. Fiscal sustainability and opportunities to increase potential growth 152
IV. Fiscal and monetary policies: their role in macroeconomic management 154
V. The choice of an exchange rate system 155
VI. Options with regard to monetary policy regime
Money anchor 158
Inflation targeting
VII. Conclusions 160
References 161
Chapter 7. Fiscal sustainability
I. Background Priof history of Movien fiscal policy
Brief history of Mexican fiscal policy Fiscal sustainability defined 164
II. Issues
Fiscal policy and business cycles 166
Deficit reductions and infrastructure 168
Taxation 169
Contingent liabilities 170
Summary of empirical tests of fiscal sustainability 172
III. Policy options 174
Assessment of the scope of the problem: omissions and benchmarking 174
IV. Conclusion 176
References 177
Chapter 8. Challenges and prospects for tax reform
I. Background
II. Level and structure of taxation in Mexico 180

III. Current policies and options in Mexico's tax regime	182
Oil taxation	183
Corporate income (profit) tax	185
Personal income tax	186
Value-added tax	188
Excises	190
Sub-national taxes	191
IV. Administrative. Collection, and enforcement	194
V. Tax reform implementation strategy	196
References	197
Chapter 9. Public debt management stocktaking and challenges ahead	199
I. Introduction
II. Public debt management: recent experience in Mexico
Nonfinancial public sector	201
III. Instituto de protección al ahorro bancario (IPAB)	207
IV. Fideicomiso de apoyo para el rescate de autopistas concesionadas	0.4.0
(FARAC)	210
V. Proyectos de Impacto diferido en el registro del gasto (PIDIREGAS)	212
VI. Other (contigent) liabilities	040
VII. Indexation of domestic debt instruments	213
VII. Absorptive capacity of the domestic debt market	214
IX. Conclusions	217
Bibliography Chapter 10 Bancier referm	219
Chapter 10. Pension reform	223
I. The demographic context to pension reform II. The fiscal context of pension reform	223
The mandatory pension system for private sector workers	225
Pension systems for federal government employees	223
Pension systems for state government employees	226
Pension system for employees of parastatal enterprises	220
III. Status of reforms	227
IV. The future reform agenda	228
Pension systems for private sector employees	229
Pension systems for public employees	231
INFONAVIT	232
Complementary reforms in capital markets	233
V. The social dimension of pension reform: equity poverty, and coverage	234
VI. Reform priorities: a suggested plan of action	237
Reformed pension system	236
Growth and competitiveness
Chapter 11. Banking sector	241
I. Financial sector objectives: efficiency, accessibility, and stability
II. The high cost of banking crises
III. Mexicos financial sector reform	242
IV. Measures adopted to avert a systematic collapse of the banking system	243
V. IPAB banking recapitalization and resolution programs	245
VI. The regulatory reform program
Pending regulatory issues and continuity of implemented strategies	246

Pending legal reforms to improve incentives to the financial sector
VII. Supervisory and regulatory arrangements	247
VIII. Financing to the private sector	248
IX. Globalization and the entry of foreign banks	253
X. IPABs liabilities and funding requirements	255
Annex I. Regulatory reforms	261
Chapter 12. Micro, small, and medium-scale enterprises
I. Background	265
II. Issues	268
III. Possible areas of work
Government programs that provide business	269
Development services
Microfinance and some finance	272
Monitoring and evaluation	275
References	277
Chapter 13. Housing
I. Introduction	279
II. Characteristics of supply and demand
III. Institutional and market structure	280
IV. Recent performance	282
V. Issues
Macroeconomic instability	285
Sector governance	286
Bias toward finished housing	287
Poor performance of public and quasi-public institutions	288
Poorly designed subsidies	291
VI. A new housing policy
Key actions	292
VII. Conclusion	299
Chapter 14. Urban development	004
I. Introduction and background	301
II. The challenges in Mexico's urban development
Size specific challenges	311
The institutional context	312
III. Perspectives and key issues	314
Urban governance and institutional design in Mexico	314
Enhancing local economic productivity and competitiveness	315
Cities and poverty reduction	316
Learning from successes and failures of urban management	247
IV. Toward and agenda for urban development in Mexico	317
Chapter 15. Rural development and agriculture	240
I. Recent development	319
Some facts	321
II. Key issues	222
Rural poverty An unfriendly incentive framework	323
An unfriendly incentive framework	325 327
Poorly functioning markets The officiency of public goods
The efficiency of public goods The inetitutionality of rural development	333
The institutionality of rural development	337

III. Options for the future	339
Chapter 16. Federal transport
I. Overview	347
II. Background
III. Issues	348
The non-tolled federal system	349
Urban transport
Institutional setting	350
IV. Policy options
Rationalizing the toll road systems	351
Ensuring the preservation and modernization of the non-tolled road network	352
Establish institutions that reflect the new characteristics of the sector	353
Improve the efficiency and efficacy of urban transport	354
Chapter 17. Energy
I. Overview	357
II. Current situation	358
III. Recent performance	359
Energy and the economy	360
IV. Energy demand projections and supply requirements
Oil and oil-based products	362
Natural gas	363
Electricity	364
V. Challenges facing the sector	365
VI. Policy priorities and options
Meeting investment needs through increased private sector participation	366
Deeping reforms in the oil and gas sectors	369
Deeping reforms in the power sector	373
Chapter 18. Regulatory environment for private sector participation in infrastructure	377
I. Overview
II. Telecommunications
Background and diagnostic	378
Institutional and regulatory framework	380
Recommendations	382
III. Natural gas
Background and diagnostic	383
Institutional and regulatory framework	384
Recommendations	387
IV. Urban water and sanitation
Background and diagnostic	388
Institutional and regulatory framework	389
Recommendations	391
Transport
Background, institutional, and regulatory framework	394
Roads
Airports and airlines	396
Ports	398
Railways	400

Multimodality and logistics	402
Recommendations	403
Poverty and inequality
Chapter 19. Reform of the Mexican healthcare system	409
I. Introduction
II. Background and issues
Sector overview	410
Organization of healthcare	412
Pending issues	417
III. Health system reforms to date
Reforms is SSA	425
IMSS reform	427
Improved coordination if the sector	428
Modernizing healthcare regulation
IV. Setting the framework for reform: lessons from abroad
Financing options
A converging framework for health system organization	430
V. Policy recommendations
Elements of a reformed system	432
Strategic choices and the pace of reform	434
Short-term actions for health sector reform	436
Medium to long-term policy options	444
VI. Conclusions	445
References	446
Chapter 20. Education sector strategy
I. Background	447
II. Issues
Coverage	451
Internal efficiency indicators
Low levels of learning achievement in education	453
Why low quality'	455
Financial resources	458
Institutional issues	460
III. Government strategy	462
Lessons learned	464
Opportunities for improvements	465
IV. Options for the future
Basic strategic	469
Two strategic pathways to educational improvements	470
V. An action plan	471
Chapter 21. Social protection
I. Introduction managing social risk in Mexico	479
II. Identification and characteristics of Mexico's key at-risk groups	482
III. Mexicos social protection strategy	486
Social insurance	490
Social assistance	491
Social protection in Mexico: issues, options and costs	493
IV. Looking ahead: enhancing social protection policy in Mexico
Cost and trade-offs	503

Designs, institutional, and implementation issues Other emerging issues next analytical steps Siotal Bibliography Siotal Chapter 22. Labor markets Locinetx for reform Lipotics issues and options The system of benefits provision is costly, distorts Labor allocation, diminished competitiveness, and poorly serves workers Large mandated severance payments reduce labor mobility, impair resource reallocation, increase labor costs, and discourage job creation insufficient human capital accumulation The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The Informalization The Informalization Signal Informative freforms in Spain Annex II Recent labor market reforms in Spain Annex II Recent labor market reforms in Spain Signation The rural evolopments Demography Communal systems of governance The rural economy indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Signal Information Signal Informati	Defining priorities
Other emerging issues next analytical steps Bibliography 508 Chapter 22. Labor markets 511 I. Context for reform II. Policy issues and options The system of benefits provision is costly, distorts Labor allocation, diminished competitiveness, and poorly serves workers Large mandated severance payments reduce labor mobility, impair resource reallocation, increase labor costs, and discourage job creation Insufficient human capital accumulation 520 The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization 520 Annex II Recent labor market reforms in Spain 531 Annex III The minimum wage 533 Annex III The minimum wage 533 Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty 1. Current developments 537 Demography 538 Demography 539 Indigenous peoples and biodiversity 541 Transition 542 Creating political space 543 Educational and health indicators 544 II. Issues for indigenous development 545 Forblems 545 Educational and health indicators 546 Multiethnic society and an institutional framework 548 Multiethnic society and an institutional framework 549 Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands 550 Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 550 Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 555 Chepter demographic and economic indicators for Mexico 660 Gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558		506
Bibliography Chapter 22. Labor markets 1. Context for reform II. Policy issues and options The system of benefits provision is costly, distorts Labor allocation, diminished competitiveness, and poorly serves workers Large mandated severance payments reduce labor mobility, impair resource reallocation, increase labor costs, and discourage job creation Insufficient human capital accumulation The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The work of the modernized formalization The minimum wage Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty I. Current developments Demography Poverty rates Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Communal systems of governance Indigenous life in urban settings Educational and health indicators II. Issues for indigenous development Problems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Migratt, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment
Chapter 22. Labor markets I. Context for reform II. Policy issues and options The system of benefits provision is costly, distorts Labor allocation, diminished competitiveness, and poorly serves workers Large mandated severance payments reduce labor mobility, impair resource reallocation, increase labor costs, and discourage job creation Insufficient human capital accumulation The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The Industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization 529 Annex II he Mexican system of employment protection 529 Annex II he minimum wage 533 Annex III he minimum wage 533 Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty I. Current developments 537 Demography Poverty rates Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous rural identity Communal systems of governance 541 Transition 542 Transition 542 Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings 543 Educational and health indicators 544 II. Issues for indigenous development Problems 545 Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework 548 Health and education services 549 Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender demographic and economic ind
I. Policy issues and options The system of benefits provision is costly, distorts Labor allocation, diminished competitiveness, and poorly serves workers Large mandated severance payments reduce labor mobility, impair resource reallocation, increase labor costs, and discourage job creation Insufficient human capital accumulation The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization S26 Annex I The Mexican system of employment protection 529 Annex II Recent labor market reforms in Spain 531 Annex III The minimum wage 532 Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty 1. Current developments 537 Demography Poverty rates Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous rural identity Communal systems of governance 541 Transition 542 Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings 543 Educational and health indicators 1. Issues for indigenous development Problems 544 II. Issues for indigenous development Problems 545 Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender dem
II. Policy issues and options The system of benefits provision is costly, distorts Labor allocation, diminished competitiveness, and poorly serves workers Large mandated severance payments reduce labor mobility, impair resource reallocation, increase labor costs, and discourage job creation Insufficient human capital accumulation The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The sector of employment protection The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The furban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The furban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The furban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The furban growth and blocation service sector of the furban formal sector policies for mexico sector policies for the future The protection of the future sector of the furban formal sector for Mexico sector of the future sector of the furban
The system of benefits provision is costly, distorts Labor allocation, diminished competitiveness, and poorly serves workers Large mandated severance payments reduce labor mobility, impair resource reallocation, increase labor costs, and discourage job creation Insufficient human capital accumulation The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization Annex I The Mexican system of employment protection 529 Annex I Recent labor market reforms in Spain 531 Annex III The minimum wage 532 Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty 1. Current developments 537 Demography Poverty rates Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous rural identity Communal systems of governance 1541 Transition 542 Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings Educational and health indicators 1543 II. Issues for indigenous development Problems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services 548 Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 1. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differenciated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Formulation of the future for the propertic participation and self-employment Formulation of the future for the propertic participation and self-employment Formulation of the future formulation of the propertic participation and self-employment Formulation of the future formulation of the propertic participation and self-employment Formulation of the future formulation of the propertic participation and self-employment Formulation of the future formulation of the future formulati
Labor allocation, diminished competitiveness, and poorly serves workers Large mandated severance payments reduce labor mobility, impair resource reallocation, increase labor costs, and discourage job creation 515 Insufficient human capital accumulation 520 The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization 526 Annex I The Mexican system of employment protection 527 Annex II Recent labor market reforms in Spain 531 Annex III The minimum wage 532 Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty 1. Current developments 537 Demography Poverty rates 538 Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Communal systems of governance 541 Transition 542 Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings 543 Educational and health indicators 544 Il. Issues for indigenous development Problems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 1. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 558 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558	·	513
Large mandated severance payments reduce labor mobility, impair resource reallocation, increase labor costs, and discourage job creation 515 Insufficient human capital accumulation 520 The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized 523 The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization 526 Annex IThe Mexican system of employment protection 529 Annex IR Recent labor market reforms in Spain 531 Annex III The minimum wage 533 Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty 1. Current developments 537 Demography 537 Demography 538 Migration 539 Migration 540 Migranus peoples and biodiversity 539 Indigenous rural identity 539 Indigenous life in urban settings 542 Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings 543 Educational and health indicators 544 II. Issues for indigenous development 545 Indigenous governance and organizational capacity 546 Multiethnic society and an institutional framework 548 Health and education services 549 Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands 11. Options for the future 550 Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 551 Introduction 555 Migrant differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558 resource reallocation, increase labor costs, and discourage job creation Insufficient human capital accumulation The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The Mexican system of employment protection The United Protection The Indigenous peoples and poverty The United Protection The rural evelopments The rural evelopments The rural economy Indigenous rural identity Tommunal systems of governance Transition The rural economy Indigenous rural identity Tommunal systems of governance Transition The rural economy Indigenous life in urban settings Total Educational and health indicators Transition Total Trans
Insufficient human capital accumulation The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization 526 Annex I The Mexican system of employment protection 529 Annex II Recent labor market reforms in Spain 531 Annex III The minimum wage 533 Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty I. Current developments 537 Demography Poverty rates Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity 539 Indigenous rural identity Communal systems of governance 541 Transition 542 Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings 543 Educational and health indicators II. Issues for indigenous development Problems Froblems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services 549 Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558		515
The industrial relations and collective bargains framework needs to be reviewed and modernized The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization Annex I The Mexican system of employment protection 529 Annex II Recent labor market reforms in Spain Annex III The minimum wage 537 Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty I. Current developments Demography Poverty rates Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous rural identity Communal systems of governance Transition Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings Educational and health indicators II. Issues for indigenous development Problems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558
The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization Annex I The Mexican system of employment protection Annex III Recent labor market reforms in Spain Annex III The minimum wage Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty I. Current developments Demography Poverty rates Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Communal systems of governance Transition Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings Educational and health indicators I. Issues for indigenous development Problems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558
The urban formal sector needs policies to stimulate growth and encourage formalization 526 Annex I The Mexican system of employment protection 529 Annex II Recent labor market reforms in Spain 531 Annex III The minimum wage 533 Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty I. Current developments 537 Demography 538 Migration 538 Migration 538 Migration 539 Indigenous peoples and biodiversity 539 Indigenous rural identity 539 Indigenous rural identity 542 Creating political space 543 Educational and health indicators 544 II. Issues for indigenous development 545 Indigenous governance and organizational capacity 545 Multiethnic society and an institutional framework 548 Health and education services 549 Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands 111. Options for the future 550 Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 1. Introduction 557 Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement 555 Gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558 formalization 526 Annex I The Mexican system of employment protection 529 Annex II Recent labor market reforms in Spain 531 Annex III The minimum wage 533 Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty I. Current developments 537 Demography 538 Migration 538 Migration 539 Indigenous peoples and biodiversity 539 Indigenous peoples and biodiversity 539 Indigenous rural identity 539 Indigenous rural identity 542 Creating political space 543 Educational and health indicators 544 II. Issues for indigenous development 545 Indigenous governance and organizational capacity 545 Indigenous governance and organizational capacity 546 Multiethnic society and an institutional framework 548 Health and education services 549 Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands 111. Options for the future 550 Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 1. Introduction 555 Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement 555 Gender differences in educational attainments and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558
Annex I The Mexican system of employment protection Annex III Recent labor market reforms in Spain Annex III The minimum wage Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty I. Current developments Demography Poverty rates Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous rural identity Communal systems of governance Transition 542 Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings Educational and health indicators II. Issues for indigenous development Problems Froblems Aukitiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment	formalization	526
Annex II Recent labor market reforms in Spain Annex III The minimum wage Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty I. Current developments Demography Poverty rates Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Communal systems of governance Transition Terainstion Total indigenous life in urban settings Educational and health indicators II. Issues for indigenous development Problems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital S57 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment	Annex I The Mexican system of employment protection
Annex III The minimum wage Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty I. Current developments Demography Poverty rates Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Say Indigenous rural identity Communal systems of governance Transition Teranistion That in urban settings Educational and health indicators II. Issues for indigenous development Problems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement Teturns to human capital S57 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment S58
Chapter 23. Indigenous peoples and poverty I. Current developments Demography Poverty rates Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous rural identity Communal systems of governance Transition Totating political space Indigenous life in urban settings Educational and health indicators II. Issues for indigenous development Problems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender defferences in educational attainments and achievement Total Capacity 555 The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment	·
I. Current developments Demography Poverty rates Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous rural identity Communal systems of governance Transition Teating political space Indigenous life in urban settings Educational and health indicators II. Issues for indigenous development Problems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 538 538 538 538 538 538 539 539
Demography Poverty rates 538 Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity 539 Indigenous rural identity Communal systems of governance 541 Transition 542 Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings 543 Educational and health indicators 544 II. Issues for indigenous development Problems 545 Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs 546 Multiethnic society and an institutional framework 548 Health and education services 549 Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future 550 Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 553 I. Introduction 553 Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement 555 The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558	• • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •	537
Poverty rates Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Say Indigenous rural identity Communal systems of governance Transition Teating political space Indigenous life in urban settings Educational and health indicators II. Issues for indigenous development Problems Foblems F	'
Migration The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Communal systems of governance Transition Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings Educational and health indicators Il. Issues for indigenous development Problems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Sos		538
The rural economy Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Communal systems of governance Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings Educational and health indicators Il. Issues for indigenous development Problems Foblems Auck of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands Ill. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets Indigenous in economic indicators for Mexico Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Source 539 541 542 543 543 544 Il. Issues for indigenous development 545 Indigenous governance and organizational capacity 546 Multiethnic society and an institutional framework 547 548 549 The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 550 Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 551 Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement 555 The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment
Indigenous peoples and biodiversity Communal systems of governance Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings Educational and health indicators I. Issues for indigenous development Problems Froblems Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558
Indigenous rural identity Communal systems of governance 541 Transition 542 Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings 543 Educational and health indicators 544 II. Issues for indigenous development Problems 545 Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs 546 Multiethnic society and an institutional framework 548 Health and education services 549 Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future 550 Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement 555 The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment		539
Communal systems of governance 541 Transition 542 Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings 543 Educational and health indicators 544 II. Issues for indigenous development Problems 545 Indigenous governance and organizational capacity 545 Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs 546 Multiethnic society and an institutional framework 548 Health and education services 549 Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future 550 Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 553 I. Introduction 553 Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico 696 Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement 555 The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558
Transition 542 Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings 543 Educational and health indicators 544 II. Issues for indigenous development Problems 545 Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs 546 Multiethnic society and an institutional framework 548 Health and education services 549 Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future 550 Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 553 I. Introduction 69 Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico 69 Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement 555 The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558	·	541
Creating political space Indigenous life in urban settings 543	Transition
Indigenous life in urban settings 543 Educational and health indicators 544 II. Issues for indigenous development 770	Creating political space
Educational and health indicators II. Issues for indigenous development Problems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558		543
Problems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 545 546 548 548 549 549 550 550 650 650 660 660 660 660 660 660		544
Problems Indigenous governance and organizational capacity Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 545 546 548 548 549 549 550 550 650 650 660 660 660 660 660 660
Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 546 548 548 548 549 550 650 651 652 653 666 666 667 667 667 667 667	•	545
Lack of "Fit" of poverty programs with indigenous interest and needs Multiethnic society and an institutional framework Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 546 548 548 548 549 550 650 651 652 653 666 666 667 667 667 667 667	Indigenous governance and organizational capacity
Multiethnic society and an institutional framework548Health and education services549Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future550Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets553I. Introduction553Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement555The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital557Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment558		546
Health and education services Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 549		548
Migrant, urban, and indigenous groups in Arid Lands III. Options for the future Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558
Ill. Options for the future 550 Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 553 I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement 555 The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558
Chapter 24. The economics of gender in Mexico: work, family state, and markets 1. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558		550 and markets I. Introduction Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 553 553 555 556
Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558		553
Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558	I. Introduction
Gender differences in educational attainments and achievement 555 The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558	Gender demographic and economic indicators for Mexico
The gender differentiated impact of child labor and school dropout on returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558	 	555 returns to human capital 557 Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558
Gender issues in workforce participation and self-employment 558		557
TIOMOGRAM ORIOUGO OFFICIONO POLOCO DULLIONALIOTE	Household effects on labor force participation	559

The maquiladora sector	560
Gender differentials in microenterprise earnings
Gender, generations, and off-farm employment o the Mexican ejido	562
The welfare of male and female elderly	563
II. Conclusions	565
III. Policy recommendations
References	568
Chapter 25. Government programs and poverty
I. Introduction and overview: ten strategic questions	569
II. Key findings
III. Broad-based public expenditures and poverty	576
Access of the poor to broad-based social public expenditures remains limited
Not all agricultural programs benefits the rural poor in the same way	581
IV. Investment in the human capital of the poor	585
PROGRESA	586
Food programs	590
Compensatory education	596
V. Income opportunities for the poor	500
Programa de empleo temporal	598
Other employment programs for the poor	603
Training programs	604
VI. Investments in the physical capital of poor areas	607
Inadequate access to basic social infrastructure	609
Good institutions and management are needed for decentralization to be	612
pro-poor VIII. Conclusion	616
A sustainable	010
Chapter 26. Water
I. Current situation: a changing world	619
Background	013
II. The issues what are the challenges for the future?	622
The good news: results achieved	623
The band news: gaps and new challenges	625
III. Future development: policy options and recommendations	020
Water resources managements	632
Irrigation	634
Water supply and sanitation	635
Drought and flood management
Institutions and organizations: the role of CNA	638
IV. Summary	640
Chapter 27. Biodiversity
Summary	645
I. Current developments
Facts and figures	646
Value of biodiversity	647
Pressures on biodiversity	648
Institutional and policy responses	649
II. Issues	652

Conceptual issues	655
III. Strategic options for the future
A typology of policy options	659
Cross-cutting issues	665
References	666
Chapter 28. Forestry and land management
I. Current developments	669
Continued resource degradation despite reforms
Growing recognition of the multiple social values of forests	670
The promise of forestry-based community development and natural forest	671 management
The emerging need for commercial plantations	672
Government interventions in land management	673
Government interventions in the forestry sector	674
II. Issues for sustainability land and forest management	675
III. Options for the future	678
Policy enhancements and areas for government focus	679
Chapter 29. Natural disaster management	010
I. Background
Natural disaster experience	683
Impact of disaster on country's economy and development programs	000
Impact of natural disaster on the poor
Government approach to date	685
II. Main sector issues	000
Institutional coordination	686
Prevention	000
Post-disaster financing	87
III. Options for the future	_
Institutional coordination	688
Prevention
Post-disaster financing	689
Chapter 30. Air quality
I. Background	691
II. Issues
Large and unsustainable able impact on health	693
Weak institutional framework for air quality management
Indoor pollution
Weak (or lack of) internalization of environmental and health costs in policy	694 making
Limited citizen participation
Barriers to gains in energy efficiency and the promotion of renewable energy resources
Barriers to promotion of cleaner vehicles and fuels	695
Weak incentives for private sector participation
III. Strategic 31. Solid waste management
I. Background	701
II. Major issues	702
III. Strategic options
Strengthening of regulations and institutions at the federal and local level	703

Extending the provision of services to medium and small size localities	704
Reduction in waste generation (At-source reduction) and promotion of recycling
Addressing social issues (pepenadores) through involvement in transfer stations and recycling centers	705
Harmonizing efforts seeking solid waster management improvements with climate change concerns
Specific actions	706
Accountability and the demand for quality government
Chapter 32. Decentralization	700
I. Mexico's decentralization in international perspective	709
II. Pending policy issues	744
Spending	711
Taxes	712
Transfers Debt and begreeving	713
Debt and borrowing	714
Institutions building	715
III. Policy options	717
Continuing current reforms	740
Reforming the pacto fiscal	718
Rationalizing sectoral decentralization	719
State-level reforms Chapter 33 Covernance
Chapter 33. Governance	721
I. The components of governance	121
II. Governance in Mexico: progress made III. Corruption. Some observations
Transparency internationals index	722
Evidence from national surveys	122
V. Recent developments
Anti-corruption efforts in Mexico: focus on SECODAM	723
Toward a more comprehensive anticorruption agenda in Mexico	725
V. Conclusion	731
Chapter 34. Legal and judicial institutions
I. Background	733
II. Organization and operations of the legal-judicial system	734
Intersystem relationships	735
Federal judiciary	736
State judiciaries	737
Overview of other legal framework and ancillary institutions	739
III. Issues	740
Better information to support reform planning	741
Monitoring and evaluating results
Getting the right mix of reform and modernization	742
Ways to address extrasectoral impacts of reform	743
IV. Policy options
Entry point	744
Scope of change attempted	745
Type of horizontal and vertical coordination	746
References	747