

Contents

List of Tables and Figures	vii
Foreword	ix
Abstract	xi
Acknowledgments	xiii
Acronyms and Abbreviations	xv
Chapter 1	Designing a Sound Regulatory Framework for Financial Services Supervision 1
1.1	Introduction 1
1.2	“Regulation” Defined 5
1.3	Designing a Framework for Financial Services Supervision 6
1.4	General Statutory Powers of a Regulatory Body 12
1.5	Conclusion 16
Chapter 2	Promoting the Independence of a Financial Services Regulator 19
2.1	Introduction 19
2.2	Independence and the Financial Services Regulator 19
2.3	The Example of Central Bank Independence 22
2.4	Independent but Accountable 25
2.5	Arguments For and Against the Independent Regulator 31
2.6	Conclusion 34
Chapter 3	The Concept of a Unified Financial Services Regulator 37
3.1	Introduction 37
3.2	The Unfolding Debate 38
3.3	Examples of Unified Regulators 45
3.4	Deciding Whether to Unify Financial Services Supervision 47
3.5	A Contingency Approach 48
3.6	Lessons Learned from Experience 49
3.7	Conclusion 55

Chapter 4	Frameworks for Unified Financial Services Supervision: Latvia, the Scandinavian Countries, and the United Kingdom	57
	4.1 Some Preliminary Issues	58
	4.2 The Latvian Model	59
	4.3 Structure of the Financial and Capital Market Commission	63
	4.4 Strategic Goals of the Commission	71
	4.5 Other Aspects of the Regulatory Framework	73
	4.6 Unified Financial Services Supervision in the Scandinavian Countries	74
	4.7 Unified Financial Services Supervision in the United Kingdom	82
	4.8 Recent Regulatory Developments in the United Kingdom	84
	4.9 Conclusion	87
Chapter 5	Conclusion	89
Appendix 1	The Estonian Financial Supervisory Authority Act, 2001	93
Appendix 2	The Hungarian Financial Supervisory Authority Act, 1999	123
Appendix 3	The Latvian Law on the Financial and Capital Market Commission 2001	135
Select Bibliography		149
Index		153

List of Tables and Figures

Table 1.1	Financial Services Supervisory Models in the European Union	8
Table 3.1	Structuring Unified Regulators: Processes and Obstacles	39
Table 3.2	Regulatory Structures in Selected Countries as of July 2000	49
Table 4.1	Latvia: Structure of the Financial System at End-2000	62
Figure 4.1	Structure of the Financial and Capital Market Commission	64