

---

Contents

Preface	xii
1. The Tectonic Changes	1
Political Developments: The New States	1
Social Costs	6
2. The Way It Was	12
Income Composition and Inequality	12
Ideological Underpinnings	19
3. Income	23
The Post-Communist Great Depression	23
The Effect on Population Incomes: How Level and Composition of Income Changed	30
4. Inequality	40
Income Inequality	40
Distribution of Income Sources: Wages, Social Transfers and Private Sector Income	47
Disparity among Social Groups	54
5. Poverty	60
What Happens to Poverty When Income Goes Down?	60
By How Much Has Poverty Increased?	64
How Much Is Needed to Cover the Poverty Deficit?	76
How to Explain Increases in Poverty?	85
Who Are the Poor?	92
The Incidence of Cash Social Transfers	108

6. Selected Issues in Social Policy	115
Should OECD-Like Social Assistance Be Introduced in Transition Economies?	115
Transfer Payments to Different Groups of Recipients	120
Guaranteed Minimum Income and the Supply of Labor	122
Informal Sector and Pension Reform	126
7. A Look Ahead	132

Appendices

1. Description of the Surveys Used and Data Problems	135
The Surveys Used	135
What Biases Are Inherent in the Data?	146
How Biases Affect Comparability between Pre-transition and Transition Years	152
2. Decile Shares of Total Income	156
3. Change in the Poverty Deficit Due to a Uniform Slide     in Income	163
4. The Original Income Distribution Statistics	164
5. Poverty Headcount Calculations Based on the Original     Income Distribution Statistics Given in Appendix 4	183
6. Distribution of International Funds Based on Minimization     of Deprivation Function	192
7. Sources for Table 1.2	193

Country Data Sheets

Russia	196
Ukraine	202
Poland	208
Latvia	214

References

Indices