

Contents

Foreword vii

Acknowledgments ix

Preface xi

1. Overview 1
 - The Need for a New Form of Development 1
 - A Knowledge-Based Development Process 1
 - Readiness for the Knowledge Economy 2
 - The Economic and Institutional Regime 2
 - Human Resources 3
 - Innovation 3
 - Telecommunications and Information Infrastructure 3
 - New Visions and Strategies 4
2. The Challenge: Changing the Growth Model 5
 - A Distorted Development Process 5
 - Insufficient Growth in an Increasingly Competitive Environment 5
 - The Need to Change the Development Model 6
3. Knowledge and Economic Development: Recent Trends 9
 - The Knowledge-Based Economy 9
 - Key Pillars of Knowledge-Based Economies 11
 - The Knowledge Economy and Economic Performance 11
 - Guidelines and Lessons from International Experience 13
 - A New Mindset for Government Action 15
4. MENA Countries' Readiness for the Knowledge Economy: A Snapshot 17
 - Overall Knowledge Economy Readiness 17
 - Economic Incentives and Institutional Framework 20
 - Education 21
 - Information and Communications Technology Infrastructure 21
 - Innovation 22

5. Social and Economic Frameworks	25
Power and Social Structures	25
Investment Climate	26
Trade and Economic Integration	28
Attitudes to Knowledge, Innovation, and Management	30
6. Education and Training	33
Cultural and Linguistic Issues	33
Education and Social Expectations	34
Training and Job Markets	34
An Education Strategy within a Lifelong Learning Perspective	37
Increasing the Efficacy of Educational and Training Institutions	38
7. Innovation and Research	41
Poorly Developed Innovation Systems	41
R&D Institutions	41
Innovation Climate in Industry	42
Scientific and Technological Performance	44
Establishing a Coherent Innovation Policy	44
Conclusion	47
8. Telecommunications and the Information Infrastructure	49
Telecommunications and Related Policies	49
Policy Trends	49
The Internet	51
Providing Access for the Many Modern Forms of Communication	53
Building Human Capacity for Telecommunications	53
9. Visions and Strategies	55
Selected Country Experiences	55
MENA Countries	57
Some Guiding Principles	59
Regional and International Cooperation	61
10. Conclusion	63
Appendix: Benchmarking MENA Countries' Readiness for the Knowledge Economy	65
References	79
Documents Presented at the World Bank Forum on Knowledge for Development in the Middle East and North Africa, September 9–12, 2002, Marseilles, France	81